

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AND GLOBAL AFFAIRS

AREA OF STUDIES

The International Relations and Global Affairs (IRGA) major is designed for globally minded students ready to make a real impact. Whether you are passionate about diplomacy, human rights, environmental policy, or international development, this program equips you with the knowledge, analytical tools, and practical experience to lead in a rapidly changing world.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

1. Diplomatic Corps
2. Policy Analysis and Consultancy
3. United Nations and International Development
4. Government and Civil Service
5. Journalism and Media

You will explore global politics, economics, and cultures while developing critical thinking, research, and communication skills essential for careers in government, NGOs, international business, and beyond. Our interdisciplinary curriculum offers unique insights into global challenges and the dynamics of international cooperation – both inside the classroom and through a range of extracurricular activities like panel discussions and workshops with leading experts and practitioners.

Located in a vibrant, multicultural academic environment, students benefit from internship opportunities, study abroad programs, and direct engagement with relevant institutions such as the UN, NGOs or the government sector and diplomatic corps. Graduates leave not only with a degree but with the confidence and global perspective needed to shape policy, influence change, and build a more connected and just world.
